Celebrate the Great American Takeout and Support CORE® on March 24

BRENTWOOD, Tenn. (March 22, 2021) – Give yourself an excuse to take a break from the kitchen and help a great cause with the Great American Takeout. On Wednesday, March 24, 2021, your decision to let someone else do the cooking could provide financial support for CORE® (Children of Restaurant Employees), a national non-profit organization that offers financial help to food and beverage employees with children. The Great American Takeout is a national celebration that supports the food and beverage industry, which has been hit hard by the pandemic. To participate, simply enjoy a meal from your favorite restaurant on March 24.

Additionally, Smithfield Culinary is ensuring that your order can give back too. This year to make your industry support go even further, just snap and share a photo of your meal with the hashtag #TheGreatAmericanTakeout, and Smithfield Culinary will donate ten dollars to CORE. The American food company also supported CORE with last year’s Great American Takeout. Show this generous CORE partner some appreciation and tag @smithfieldculinary on Instagram.

"It is heartbreaking to see the devastating effects the pandemic has had on the restaurant industry. However, the quick adaptations and resiliency to keep going serve as a constant inspiration for all of us in the community," said Chip Morgan, Director of Marketing at Smithfield Foods. "Smithfield Culinary is honored to be a part of The Great American Takeout again to support not only beloved restaurants across the country but the hardworking people operating behind the scenes to bring them to life."

"The Great American Takeout is a wonderful opportunity for communities to show their support of food and beverage employees, who continue to serve us throughout these challenging times," said Sheila Bennett, Executive Director of CORE. "We are also thrilled to have the generous support of Smithfield Culinary for this year's event. Their contributions will allow us to continue our mission of bridging the financial gap for food and beverage employees with children."

"Schedules have never been busier but ordering food to go has become the norm during this past year. Technology has made online ordering easier than ever," added Bennett. "Don't forget your meal counts on March 24."
